

The image shows a person's hand touching a tablet screen. The screen displays the Condeco Sense dashboard, which provides a comprehensive overview of workplace data. The dashboard is organized into several sections:

- Header: Displays the user's name (Peter), the date and time (Thu 14 Jun 8:38am), and navigation links for Overview, Desks, Offices, Meeting Rooms, and Breakout Spaces.
- Overview: A central section with a large bar chart showing the distribution of desks across different usage categories. Below the chart, there are two circular progress indicators: one for 'Overall utilization' at 58% and another for 'High usage' at 74%.
- Your desks overview: A section titled '469 Desks' with a bar chart showing the percentage of time desks are in use across different categories.
- Your offices overview: A section titled '34 Offices' with a bar chart showing the percentage of time offices are in use across different categories.
- Your meeting rooms overview: A section titled '274 Meeting rooms' with a bar chart showing the percentage of time meeting rooms are in use across different categories.
- Your breakout spaces overview: A section titled '23 Breakout spaces' with a bar chart showing the percentage of time breakout spaces are in use across different categories.

Harness the power of workplace data with Condeco Sense

Condeco Sense is a unique wireless sensor that continually and accurately measures your workspace. It helps you understand the right type and right quantity of workspace for your company. Understanding how desks, meeting rooms, breakout and office spaces are used on a day by day and hour by hour basis providing valuable insight into property planning and how your real estate is being used. By presenting clear, compelling data, Condeco Sense provides a flexible and comprehensive solution for your short or long-term needs. With both industry knowledge and leading technology informing each other, you will quickly recognise the potential to reduce your real estate costs and develop ongoing cost-saving initiatives.

How it works

Condeco Sense is a small, discrete, easy to affix, wireless device that uses a dedicated, stand-alone network to gather utilisation data via a series of passive infrared signals. The sensors transmit utilisation data back to a centralised database in the Cloud, which is then presented back to you in easy to understand graphs and tables.

Using this data, we can provide you with a detailed report on how your workspace is being used, and feed back observations on how to adapt or change the space to meet your business objectives. This fully up-to-date, objective data can remove the need for expensive manual workspace utilisation audits.

The sensor can be applied to almost any type of contemporary workspace including: workstations, meeting room tables, VC suites, collaborative meeting spaces and dining areas.

Key benefits

Instant access to data

Condeco Sense provides a continuous flow of accurate, objective data that can be accessed instantly via any Internet enabled device. This allows you to see the current use of your entire workspace at your desk or on the go.

No impact on IT

As a cloud-based solution that runs outside your corporate network, Condeco Sense has no impact on your network or IT department.

Minimal installation and running costs

Condeco Sense delivers unparalleled ROI. From as little as £2 per week, the sensor solution allows you the flexibility to use it on a temporary or permanent basis. The cost compares favourably to traditional walk through studies that can be both intrusive and inconclusive.

Impacting your work culture

Condeco has a detailed understanding of the steps you need to take to move to a more flexible working environment. We have worked with some of the biggest companies in the world in delivering change programmes that are driven by solid empirical data. Through our use of meeting room and desk booking solutions, we can introduce a change in workplace behaviour that can have a lasting impact on your work culture and environment.

What Sense can do for you

Reduce real estate costs

By providing concise, factual data that clearly identifies where real estate savings can be made, Condeco's in-house consultants can devise a strategic workplace plan to best meet your requirements. Each plan we present has real estate savings at the core, with most business cases yielding a positive ROI.

Manage your workspace better

Condeco Sense gives you an in-depth understanding of the way space is actually used. With this valuable data at your fingertips, you can develop sophisticated and informed strategies to meet the demands of the people who use the workplace and identify efficiencies within your existing buildings.

Support your Facilities Team

Condeco Sense reports show actual utilisation. This can vastly improve building access control data or information held within CAFM systems. The data also changes daily, building up an aggregated view of how every space is used. This gives Facilities Managers the ability to quickly adapt their property strategies based on internal or external pressures. Having detailed utilisation reports readily available can also aid Disaster Recovery scenarios, where space needs to be found immediately due to an unforeseen event.

Develop new ways of working

With Condeco Sense data, we can identify different styles of working and position these into groups (e.g. mobile, flexi or fixed) based on your desk space requirements. This enables you to 'right size' your real estate and remove or reallocate under utilised space, creating a more efficient working environment.
